

INSIDER TIPS TO KNOW

Air Force Academy Foundation

Razelle Doherty

Class Giving Officer | Air Force Academy Foundation

- The Air Force Academy Foundation is dedicated to providing impactful, real-world learning opportunities for cadets through philanthropic support, as well as bolstering graduate programs and services in partnership with the AOG.
- The Air Force Academy Foundation and the Association of Graduates will be led under the first-ever joint CEO, Lt Gen (ret.) Mike Gould, '76.
- Since 2007, private donors have supported the Air Force Academy Foundation's mission to support USAFA with more than $200M toward a wide range of Academy programs and infrastructure projects. Philanthropic support comes from several generous constituent groups, including graduates, families and friends of the Academy. The Air Force Academy Foundation is honored to have Firsties support through the First Gift program.
- The Class of '20's First Gift Campaign is the start of building a philanthropic culture amongst classmates and supports future brothers and sisters of USAFA.
- In addition to supporting graduate programs and services and the operational strategies of the Air Force Academy Foundation, private funds support USAFA programs such as: intramural and intercollegiate athletes, cadet summer research, cadet clubs and activities, international immersion, Gettysburg Leadership Summit, squadron improvements, graduate school scholarships, academic competition travel, academic awards ...and many more.
